CHANGES. There has been an evident feeling of nervousness among the Tammany city officials subject to removal by the Mayor, since the adjournment of the Legislature. They do not believe the Governor will sign the bill providing a trial with the benefit of counsel, and many of them expect therefore to be officially decapitated to make way for Mr. Tilden's officially decapitated to make way for Mr. Tilden's friends. Remarks dropped by Michael Norton, James Hayes, John Fox, Hubert O. Thompson and other persons known as the Mayor's "kitchen cabinet," have increased this feeling. Mr. Thompson recently remarked, "We would be glad to remove Controller Kelly, could we find sufficient cause." Mr. Kelly says that the Mayor has been searching for that "cause," and doubtless will claim to have found it.

Rumors of the contemplated removal of Police Commissioner Wheeler and the Park Commissioners were in circulation Saturday. The Mayor deuted that he was collecting evidence to be used against the Park Commissioners. He declined to say whether he would make any nominations to the Board of Aldermen to-morrow. It was believed by several Aldermen that nominations would be made in place of those rejected recently, and probably for Commissioner of Jurors and Excise Commissioners. It is not likely that any nominations will be acted on to-morrow. The Tammany, Anti-Tammany and Republican groups in the Board of Aldermen will probably act independently of each other hereafter.

THE ICE POND AT DOBBS' FERRY. CONTINUANCE OF THE SUIT TO PREVENT ITS FORMATION-DR. HENRY DRAPER'S TESTI-

MONY. The case of Frederick J. Stone, a nephew of Cyrus W. Field, against Moses T. Odell, a farmer at Dobbs Ferry, was resumed before Judge Dykman, at White Plains, on Saturday. This action was begun April 26, and was brought to restrain the defendant, a tenant of the Cortlandt Palmer estate, from damming the Wiltsea Brook in the Winter season, thereby forming a poud from which to gather ice. Mr. Field and a number of experts and residents have been examined in the course of the trial in regard to the unhealthful effects resulting from the damming of the water. The plaintiff having rested the case a week ago, the defence was opened on Saturday before Judge Dykman. Professor Henry Draper's testimony was taken in order that he might sail for Europe on Wednesday. As a guardian of certain of the grandchildren of Cortlandt Palmer he said he had examined the ground thoroughly where the Winter pond exists and it contained no evidence of anything likely to and it contained no evidence of anything likely to breed malarial poisons. The earth is gravelly and for several months in the year is overgrown with timothy and clover and several varieties of wild plants. A little less than an acre is swampy, and this, he claimed, is the result of numerous springs. "Long before the pond existed," Dr. Draper continued, "the meadow was occasionally flooded by heavy Summer showers, and in Winter, after the Fall rains, portions of it were under water, which, when frozen over, formed a favorite skating-place." Dr. Draper claimed that there had been no increase in malarial diseases in that neighborhood since the pond had first been formed. There was in the vicinity between twenty-five and fifty different ponds. The one nearest that in controversy was of a nature to arrest deposits flowing with the current of the brook from above. Dr. Draper asserted that one of these ponds was not more than 250 feet from Mr. Stone's house.

Mr. Stone met this statement of Dr. Draper with one of these ponds was not more than 250 feet from Mr. Stone's house.

Mr. Stone met this statement of Dr. Draper with the remark, "That's a he!" Although it was spoken in a low tone, Dr. Draper heard it and requested the Court to protect him from insult. Edward Wells, senior counsel for the plaintiff, explained that the remark was made to him. The remainder of Dr. Draper's testimony was to show that the causes of malarial ailments existed in the vicinity of Mr. Field's house, which did not in any way arise from the Odeli pond. He said that the water used in Mr. Field's house was forced from a pond of stagmant water as short distance a way. Mr. Field, he said, has also spread the dredgings of these ponds over his grounds to enrich the soil, and this of itself was sufficient to produce the effects complained of. Another statement of Dr. Draper was that he had on his premises at Dobbs' Ferry an observatory by means of which he had determined the tendencies of the winds blowing over the Odeli pond. The prevailing winds, according to his observations, were in an opposite direction from Mr. Stone's house, which he claimed was additional evidence that the malarnal effects complained of do not proceed from the Odeli meadows. In the cross-camination Dr. Draper was questioned in regard to any efforts which he had put forth to secure his appointment as a member of the Board of Health of Irvington. He replied that his appointment was a surprise to him.

In regard to the Robertson bill, which recently

OBJECTING TO THEIR WAGES. The strike of the horseshoers and stablemen which began at the Third Avenue car stables last week, extended to other surface lines on Saturday, and the Fourth Avenue, Dry Dock, Sixth Avenue, Grand, Houston and Forty-Second Street and Belt Line of cars were affected. The places of the strikers were promptly filled, and work was not seriously interfered with. The police were present to preserve order. The horseshoers and stablemen demanded 25 cents a day additional pay, and the companies have reduced the number of horses to be cared for by each man to meet the argument for extra pay. At a mass meeting of journeymen horseshoers on Saturday night a motion was adopted to

The 'longshoremen at a meeting on Saturday night declined the offer of the representative of the steamship companies to return to work at 25 cents an hour for day and 35 cents for night work. Notice was received that two of the 'Longshoremen Associations had voted 25 per cent of their surplus fund, or about $3,500, to support the needy strikers.

A party of 'longshoremen assaulted Patrick Durkin, of No. 512 Greenwich-st., yesterday morning, in Clarkson-st., and beat him badly. Darkin was found by the police officers severely injured about the head, and was taken to the St. Vincent Hospital. Morris Hart, of No. 40 Clarkson-st., was arrested as one of his assailants.

OFFICIAL CHANGES IN BROOKLYN.

The approaching reorganization of the municipal departments in Brooklyn is causing considerable discussion among the politicians in that city. There are nine Commissionerships to be filled by appointment of the Mayor, whose nominations are subject to confirmation or rejection by the Board of Aldermen; and other officers to be appointed as follows: City Treasurer, Registrar of Arrears, Tax Collector, President of the Board of Health, and two City As-President of the Board of Relation, and well of the sessors. This makes fifteen appointments in all. Of the outgoing officials, eight are Republicans, three Democrats and two Independents; and two of the positions—those lately filled by John W. Flaherty and George C. Bennett—are vacant. The Mayor is a Democrat, while the Common Council is largely Republican—sixteen of the twenty-five Allegacy belonging to this party: eight are Democrated by a party: Germen belonging to this party; eight are Demo-crats, and one, O'Reilly, of the Twelfth Ward, is an Independent.

A WALL STREET BROKER MISSING. No tidings of the fate of John Valk, the missing Wall-st. broker, have been received by his family. Search has been made for him, but no clew to his whereabouts had been obtained last evening. He was seen last at the Stevens House, which he left was seen last at the secretary and the had complained of being ill, but remained at his office, No. 12 Wall-st., during business hours. For several weeks Mr. Valk has been under medical reatment for a disease of the soine. His physicals.

Dr. Chamberlain, of West Fortieth-st., had recourse to burning with red-hot irons. It is feared by Mr. Valk's friends that these operations have affected his brain, and that in a sudden freak of insanity he may have committed suicide. He is said not to have been embarrassed financially, while his domestic relations, it is said, have always been pleasant. Mr. Valk was about forty-five years old, of stout build and medium height. His heavy brown hair was streaked with gray. He wore mustache and imperial. He had a wife and four children.

CHARGED WITH EXTORTING MONEY. . ANSWERING THAT HE ACTED ON AUTHORITY OF

COMMISSIONER MORRÍSON. John C. Darling, of No. 420 East Twenty-third-st., who said he was a lawyer and a commissioner of deeds, was arraigned yesterday at the Yorkville Court on a charge of attempting to blackmail saloon-keepers. Two complainants appeared against him. They were Nicholas Grotchausen, of No. 378 First-ave., and Jacob Miller, of No. 322 East Twenty-second-st. These persons charged that Darling wanted them to make application through him for new licenses for the sale of liquor and beer; and on their refusing, he threatened to get them into trouble. His fee was $2. Darling denied the charge, and said the application had been obtained from ex-Judge Hartman on the express order of Commissioner Morrison. Justice Kilbreth said Mr. Morrison must be acting in ignorance. "That book, there, accompanying the applications," said Darling, "centains the names of all persons who are now selling without a license; and these names were furnished to me at the Excise Commissioners' office by the inspector of the district, Terence Reilly, under whose orders I am directly acting. Just at present the business of making out licenses at the office is so great that all who go there cannot be accommodated immediately, and I, among many others, am supplied with these blanks to get the applications at the business places of those selling without licenses. As commissioner of deeds, I get ninety-six cents for swearing the parties, and the blance I return to the office."

Darling was committed for further examination to-day. Twenty-second-st. These persons charged that

A GREAT EXCHANGE BUILDING PROPOSED. Prominent members of the Produce and Cotton Exchanges, the Maritime Exchange and the Shipowners' Association are laboring to secure the cooperation of all these organizations in the purchase of ground and the erection of a large building. For of ground and the erection of a large building. For such a purpose it is estimated that at least twenty lots of land or 50,000 square feet would be needed. The purchase of the down-town store of A. T. Stewart & Co., at Chambers-st., has been suggested, but no negotiations have been made as reported. The cpinion of down-town merchants on Saturday was that it would not be advisable to have a new exchange above Wall-st., as it would remove provision, grain and petroleum merchants too far from their base of supplies, and should the new building be as far uptown as the City Hall a large part of the business men would not cooperate. The Produce Exchange Special Committee has recommended the purchase of not less than sixteen lots or more than twenty lots "south of Exchange-place, not west of Broadway, nor east of William-st., and as near to Broad and Beaver-sts. as possible." The matter will come up for action at the annual meeting of the Produce Exchange to-morrow. will come up for action at the and the Produce Exchange to-merrow.

WORK ON THE NORTHERN PACIFIC ROAD. The directors of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company decided, at a meeting on Saturday, to place under contract for construction the 200 miles of road lying between the head waters of the Columbia River and Lake Pend Oreitle. Several cargoes of rails have been shipped for the work algoes of rails have been shipped for the work already. The building of this line, it is said, will be pushed forward to speedy completion. The stockholders have signified their willingness to take the securities to be placed on this division. This section of road stretches through one of the finest wheat districts of the Northwest. Work on the Missouri Division, lying between the Missouri and Yellowstone Rivers, is progressing rapidly. In consequence of the advanced price of the land grant stock, the company has made a reduction of from $1 to $2 an acre in the price of its lands east of the Missouri River.

The vacancy in the office of president of the company, caused by the resignation of C. B. Wright, was filled on Saturday by the election of Frederick Billings, of Woodstock, Vt., for a long time a director of the company and chairman of its Executive Committee. Mr. Wright intends to go abroad for rest and recreation.

THE SMITH TRIAL ENDED.

THE PRISONERS CONVICTED OF MURDER. THE CHARGE TO THE JURY-HEARING THE VERDICT -COMPOSURE OF THE PRISONERS.

The trial of Mrs. Jennie R. Smith and Covert

D. Bennett for the murder of Policeman Richard H. Smith, the woman's husband on August 1, 1878, which Irvington. He replied that his appointment was a surprise to him.

In regard to the Robertson bill, which recently passed the Senate, defining the mode of trial of an ection to aboute and enjoin a nuisance, Professor Draper said that he thought Mr. Field by this step had gone a little too far. Mr. Field knew, he said, that if the case should come before a jury he would not stand the shadow of a chance of success. He claimed that Mr. Field had sought to get possession of the piece of land covered by the pond, for the purpose of making a reservoir on it. The plaintiff is represented in the present suit by Odle Close and Edward Wells. W. P. Prentice, counsel to the Health Board of this city, and M. J. Keogh appear for the defence. The hearing will be continued on June 24. nder the indictment either of the prisoners, or both. might be acquitted or both might be convicted. Conviction would mean that the prisoners were guilty of mur-der in the first degree. While the State must prove the charge beyond a reasonable doubt, the jury must not be prevented from discharging their duty by any doubts, except those which arose from reason and judgment. There was no doubt that the murder had been committed and that Mrs. Smith was present at the time. It must be an exceptional condition of things which would ex-cuse Mrs. Smith from explanation, seeing that she was present at the time of the murder. She had said that she decide whether her story was true or false. The chloro-form bottle, the towel and the condition of the closet might be evidences of contrivance to clude detection. The jury must read all the signs. Was it possible for a person to come up through the hole in the closet ! There was no sign that the house was locked against intruders. Why should a murderer have gone into the celiar, broken up the floor and upset crocks in the closet when all he needed to do was to turn a knob and enter? All of Mrs. Smith's acts and declarations after the murder were to be looked at as determ ing whether her story was true or had been contrived to divert suspicion from her. Had she a motive to commit the murder It was undisputed that there was a strong love between the prisoners. Bennett must have had some acquaintance with the house. He might have been present at the house long after the witness Cummings said he saw him. Was he there? All testimony con-cerning Bennett must be read in the light of his letter, and Mrs. Smith's possession and hiding of the letter might be an implied admission as to the truth of its contents. The whole tone of the letter seemed to be one of encouragement to her for some purpose. Bennett wrote. our lives will not be required as a sacrifice." He had said during the trial that these words referred to improper intimacy. He had given the same meaning to the passage, "I am sorry I did that wrong. I should have got you in some other manner." Did this satisfy the jury I The improper intimacy had occurred some months before and the accusations of murder more recently. What did Bennett expect to gain with a married woman in any other way I It was claimed that Mrs. Smith could not have inflicted the fatal wound. Were all the blows inflicted by one hand I Woold a man who could drive the kinfe almost through Smith's body inflict the ten or eleven very slight wounds. It might have been arranged that Mrs. Smith should be chloreformed and not participate in the crime. If she entered into such an agreement before the murder, she was as guilty as if she had held the bludgeon or had driven the knife into her inusband's body. But if she came to a knowledge of the crime afterward and concealed that knowledge, she was an accessory after the said during the trial that these words referred to imcealed that knowledge, she was an accessory after the fact and could not be convicted on the present indictment. In conclusion, Judge Knapp counselled the jury to not manfully and to perform its whole duty. The counsel for the prisoners took many exceptions to the

to net manfully and to perform its whole duty. The counsel for the prisoners took many exceptions to the Judge's charge.

The Jury retired about 1 p. m., and after dinner sent for Bennett's letter and other exhibits in the trial. They occupied about three hours in consultation, and it was then amounteed that they had agreed on a verdict. A large crowd of spectators immediately rushed into the Court-room, and during a delay of several minutes, while the prisoners were being taken from the jail, all sorts of rumors about the decision were discussed eagerly. Mrs. Smith and Bennett retained perfect composure as they took their places within the railing. Messrs. Windeld and Hoffman, of their codnest, were absent. When Judge Knapp arrived be called in the Jury at once, and the prisoners stood up to receive the verdict. Amid a painful silence on the part of the audience, the foreman of the jury was asked for the verdict, and he replied "Guilly." Several excitations of surprise or of sorrow were heard from the spectators. Several women in the saliery wept, and he replied "Guilly." Several excitations of three sobbed audioly. Neither of the prisoners finched. Mrs. Smith looked over the heads of the jury as it something on the wail had attracted her attention, and Bennett's eyes remained fixed upon the floor. They resumed their seals quietly, and did not speak until they were led back to the jull. On account of the atosince of two of their counsel the District-Attorney did not move for judement against the convicted pair. It is probunic that they will be sentenced sometime during the present week. Their counsel were in consultation with the moderatood that efforts will be made for a new trial. A writ of error will be applied for as soon as scutence is passed.

COLLEGE SPORTS AT PRINCETON.

PRINCETON, May 24.-Princeton has been erowded with visitors to-day from the neighboring cities. The gymnastic contest in the morning and the second game of base ball with Harvard in the afternoon brought out many ladies and old graduates. The opinion is often expressed that the exhibition in the gymnasium was the best seen in Princeton for severa years. The club-swinging and the double-trapeze and flying-trapeze performances were especially good. Thirteen contestants entered for the five prizes. The successful men were: Best general gymnast, Albert Wylly; light weight prize, E. W. Sheldon; heavy weight prize, John A. Stewart; parallel bars, W. R. Wilder; club swinging, E. De Ranne.

At 2 p. m. over 1,000 people had assembled to witness the Harvard-Princeton game. Ernst was present and occupied his pitcher's position as formerly, and Tyng went behind the bat. To this is owing the fact that Princeton failed to follow up yesterday's victory with another. Harvard had had one day's practice at Horton's pitching, and they showed that they had improved the opportunity and had learned something of his curves, for their score of base hits was greatly increased. Princeton on the other hand had an entirely new pitcher, and one who is thought much superior to Tyng, who pitched yesterday. Princeton played spiendidly in the first three innings, but in the fourth inning the nine secmed to lose that coolness which they had shown the 6ay before, and three runs were scored by Harvard on bad errors. For the rest of the game Harvard increased the score 5, and played with increasing skill. Princeton only railled in the seventh inning to make a run. Thus the game closed with Harvard s and Princeton 2 runs. The following is the score by innings: went behind the bat. To this is owing the fact that
